Electronic Resources

This policy describes the Coles County Regional Planning & Development Commission's general guidelines for using its electronic resources, including electronic mail (email), voicemail, Internet access, cell phones (including smartphones and other mobile electronic devices) and computer systems.

Employees should use the County's electronic resources with the understanding that these resources are provided for the benefit of the County's business. Employees may use County electronic resources for personal use, during non-work times, so long as such use complies with County rules and applicable law. Employees should never use the County's electronic resources for personal use in a manner that interferes with their work duties or any responsibilities to customers.

Sending, saving, accessing, or viewing obscene or similarly offensive material on the County's electronic resources is prohibited. Messages stored and/or transmitted by the County's electronic resources, including the computer, voicemail, email, telephone systems or cell phones must not contain content that may reasonably be considered to be obscene or other patently offensive material.

Prohibited material includes, but is not limited to, sexual comments, jokes or images, racial slurs, gender-specific comments, or any comments, jokes or images that would discriminate against or harass someone on the basis of his or her race, color, sex, age, national origin or ancestry, disability or any other category protected by federal, state or local law. Likewise, any use of the Internet, email or any other electronic resource to engage in harassment or discrimination prohibited by County policies is unlawful and strictly prohibited. Violators may be subject to discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

Unless otherwise noted, all software on the Internet should be considered copyrighted work. Therefore, employees are prohibited from downloading software and/or modifying any such files without permission from the copyright holder.

No Solicitation or Distribution

The County's electronic resources must not be used for solicitation or distribution purposes during working time. The County's no solicitation and no distribution rules apply to the use of electronic resources.

To protect our employees from unnecessary interruptions and annoyances, it is our policy to prohibit the distribution of literature in work areas and to prohibit solicitation and distribution of literature during employees' working time. "Working time" is the time an employee is engaged, or should be engaged, in performing his or her work tasks for the County. These guidelines also apply to solicitation by electronic means. Solicitation or distribution of any kind by non-employees on County premises is prohibited at all times. Nothing in this section prohibits employees from discussing terms and conditions of employment.

Software Code of Ethics

Employees may not duplicate any licenses, software or related documentation for use on the County's premises or elsewhere, unless the County is expressly authorized to do so by agreement with the licensor. Unauthorized duplication of software may subject users and/or the County to both civil and criminal penalties under the United States Copyright Act. Employees may not give software to any outsiders including contractors, customers or others. Employees may use software on local area networks or on multiple machines and cell phones only in accordance with applicable license agreements.

The County reserves the right to audit any County computer or cell phone to determine what software is installed on it.

Employee Responsibility

Each employee is responsible for the content of all text, audio or images that they place or send using the County's electronic resources. The same standards should be utilized for the creation of email messages in connection with an employee's work as would be utilized for other County correspondence or memoranda.

Computer and Systems Security

All computers and the data stored on them are, and remain at all times, the property of Coles County. As such, all messages created, sent or retrieved over the Internet or the County's electronic mail systems are the property of the County, and should be considered County information. The County reserves the right to retrieve and read any message composed, sent or received using the County's electronic resources, including all computer equipment and the electronic mail system, for any business reason including, but not limited to, ensuring compliance with this and all other County policies.

Employees should be aware that even when a message is deleted or erased, it is still possible to recreate the message; therefore, ultimate privacy of a message cannot be ensured to anyone. Accordingly, Internet and email messages are not private. Furthermore, all communications including text and images can be disclosed to law enforcement or other third parties without prior consent of the sender or the receiver.

Employees should also be aware that duplicates of email transmitted through a personal, web-based email account using County equipment could be stored on that equipment; likewise, information regarding Internet sites that an employee has accessed may also be stored.

Email Content Screening

The County maintains the right to screen all inbound and outbound email content. Email messages or attachments that contain obscene or similarly offensive material may be quarantined and held from transmission or receipt until the sender or recipient can verify the message or attached document is work related.

The County may, in its discretion, review communications to and from a personal account, subject to state laws regarding attorney-client communications.

If an employee wants to communicate with an attorney or send an otherwise confidential piece of communication that he or she does not want the County to monitor, the employee should consider using a personal email address and personal computer equipment. If an employee does use County equipment, he or she consents to any monitoring by the County and should understand that he or she has no right to privacy with respect to such communications, to the extent permissible under applicable law.

Cell Phone Use/Texting While Driving

Employees whose job responsibilities include regular or occasional driving and who are issued a County cell phone (including smartphones and other mobile electronic devices) or use their personal cell phone for business-related work are expected to put safety first. Therefore, personal and County-supplied cell phones are not to be used while driving.

If an employee needs to make or receives a call on a cell phone while driving, he or she must pull over safely, park, and then either answer the phone or return the call. Alternatively, the employee may use a hands-free device such as a Bluetooth headset or use the integrated Bluetooth connection in their vehicle, if equipped. Employees also may not send or review text messages while driving as part of their job responsibilities, unless the employee is able to do so by means of a hands-free system integrated into their vehicle.

The purpose of this part of this policy is to ensure the safety of employees, other motorists and County property. Employees who are charged with traffic violations, or cause accidents or injuries, resulting from their use of personal or County-issued cell phones or smartphones while driving will be solely responsible for all liabilities, fines, etc., that result, to the extent permissible under the law.

Employees whose job responsibilities do not specifically include driving as an essential function, but who are issued a County-provided cell phone for business use or who use their personal cellular telephone for business use, are also expected to abide by the provisions of this policy.
